Brand Introduction

What is SNITCH, when did it start, and what makes the model distinctive?

WHAT IS SNITCH?

Indian men's fashion brand focused on contemporary, trend-led apparel and a digitally driven shopping experience.

ORIGIN + FOUNDER

Founded by Siddharth Dungarwal. The business evolved from apparel/retail roots into D2C and then omnichannel retail.

USP

Trend responsiveness + broad assortment + accessible positioning + online convenience + growing physical retail.

Business model: D2C + Omnichannel

Problem Statement

The challenge is not only selling clothes — it is winning attention and retaining customers.

01 • COMPETITION

Zudio, H&M, Zara, Uniqlo, Myntra/AJIO and many D2C brands compete for the same attention.

02 • CAC

Fashion advertising can become expensive when brands depend heavily on paid acquisition.

03 • RETENTION

The brand needs repeat purchases, cross-sell and stronger customer lifetime value.

04 • SCALE

As offline stores grow, the challenge becomes integrating online, offline, CRM and data.

Core marketing question: How can SNITCH turn content-driven attention into profitable, repeatable customer growth?

Target Audience + Buyer Persona

Portfolio-defined audience based on product and digital positioning.

DEMOGRAPHICS

Age: 18–30

Location: Metro + Tier-1/Tier-2 India

Income: Student / early-career / middle-income

Device: Mobile-first

BEHAVIOUR

Discovers fashion through Instagram/Reels

Follows creators

Compares products online

Wants frequent newness

Responds to visual content

PAIN POINTS

Price vs style trade-off

Fit uncertainty

Too many options

Needs outfit inspiration

Wants trend-led looks without premium pricing

Buyer Persona: “The Trend-Seeking Young Indian”

Competitor Analysis

Three relevant reference points across price, trend and scale.

BRAND	POSITIONING	STRENGTH	SNITCH OPPORTUNITY
Zudio	Affordable fashion	Pricing + retail scale	Own trend-led men’s niche + digital community
H&M	Global fast fashion	Brand + assortment	More localized content + creator-led discovery
Zara	Premium fast fashion	Trend authority	Accessible price positioning + digital-first engagement

Note: This is a positioning comparison, not a market-share ranking.

Creatives / Ad Copy

Three sample concepts you can turn into actual Canva creatives.

CREATIVE 01 • REEL

VISUAL: Fast outfit transition

HOOK: “One shirt. Three different versions of you.”

CTA: Explore the latest drop.

#SNITCH #MensFashion #OOTD

CREATIVE 02 • CAROUSEL

SLIDE 1: “Your wardrobe needs these 5.”

Slides 2–6: product + styling use case

CTA: Save this for your next shopping trip.

CREATIVE 03 • RETARGETING

HEADLINE: “Still thinking about the fit?”

BODY: Your saved look is still waiting.

CTA: Complete your look.

Use product image + review/UGC.

Design direction: high-contrast editorial fashion • bold typography • clean product shots • creator-led frames

Paid Strategy

Illustrative 30-day test budget — not SNITCH’s actual media spend.

AWARENESS 20% allocation ₹40,000	CONSIDERATION 20% allocation ₹40,000	CONVERSION 40% allocation ₹80,000	RETARGETING 20% allocation ₹40,000

ILLUSTRATIVE TOTAL

₹2,00,000
/ 30 days

AUDIENCE
18–30 fashion interests • video viewers • website visitors • ATC • 1%–3% lookalikes

BIDDING
Start with lowest-cost / maximize conversions; move toward value optimization after sufficient conversion volume.

KPIs + Forecast

Illustrative targets for a 30-day test — targets are not historical results.

CTR Target: >1.5% Driver: Creative relevance	CPC Target: ↓ 10% Driver: Traffic efficiency	CVR Target: +10–20% Driver: Landing-page + offer
CAC Target: ↓ 10% Driver: Acquisition efficiency	ROAS Target: 2.5–3.5x Driver: Paid revenue efficiency	REPEAT RATE Target: +10–15% Driver: CRM + retention

PRINCIPLE

Do not promise a fixed revenue number before testing. Forecast from traffic × conversion × AOV, then validate against actual CAC and contribution margin.

Targets are hypothetical planning assumptions for this case study.

Learning + Conclusion

What this case study teaches a digital marketer

TAKEAWAY 01

Content should not be treated as decoration. Strong creative is a demand-generation asset that can feed paid media.

TAKEAWAY 02

Growth is not only acquisition. CRM, repeat purchase, cross-sell and LTV determine whether paid traffic becomes durable value.

TAKEAWAY 03

The strongest omnichannel model connects social discovery, D2C conversion, physical retail and customer data.
